Today's Key:

REPUTATION IS THE CREDIBILITY OF LIFE

A reputation of credibility is the capital that appreciates over a lifetime of wise positive choices. You are many decisions away from building a reputable legacy, but just one unwise decision away from the need to rebuild a lifetime of prudent choices. That is why ending well is as important as starting well. A reputation of honor often opens doors of opportunity and constructs platforms of prominence.

Like a bottle of wine that improves in quality and value over the years, the credibility of a good reputation seasons throughout the seasons. It has been said that your reputation precedes you. But I say that your reputation both follows you and goes before you. A bad reputation carries a stigma but a good reputation carries one before kings and presidents. It's not too late to finish well.

Proverbs 22:1 (NIV)

"A good name is more desirable than great riches; to be esteemed is better than silver or gold."
